A Friend in Hospital

Henry sat up in bed. “Thank you for visiting me, Willie. I’m feeling much better now.”

Henry had fractured his arm when he fell off his bicycle and had to stay in hospital for a week. During this week, his partner in class, Willie, had brought him his homework and notes so that he would not fall too far behind in his work.

Henry felt lucky to have a friend like Willie, who was very concerned about him. He brought flowers and his favourite magazines to cheer Henry up. “Don’t worry, I will help you with your schoolwork when you return to school. Right now, you should just rest.”
